

Answers

1. The little white attic. 2. Antigua, an island in the West Indies. 3. Mrs. Grant. 4. Mrs. Norris. 5. Mrs. Holford's, a lady of Tom Bertram's acquaintance in London. 6. "A whole hour." 7. Mr. Harding, a friend of Sir Thomas Bertram, who lives in London. 8. The happiness of improving his grounds. 9. Lord Macartney's Journal of the Embassy to China. 1, XVI. Earl George Macartney (Lord) (1737-1806) diplomat and colonial governor. His Journal of the Embassy to China in Sir John Barrow's Some Accounts of the Public Life and a selection from the Unpublished Writings—Fanny's reading material in the East Room. 10. [Mrs. Edith Lank of Rochester, New York, won this and read it at the AGM: "I would not venture to rate anyone's sex life following the example of the author who left all such speculations off stage. We could, I suppose, simply mark it on a pass/fail basis. 'Fail.'"] 11. 20,000. 12. Miss Crawford's second riding lesson with Edmund. 13. A curricule and a chaise. 14. One. 15. The slave trade. 16. The park (in which Fanny had hoped to see the avenue of trees) and the wilderness. 17. The HMS Antwerp is correct answer. (William is later promoted to Lieutenant on the Thrush.) 18. Edmund and Tom are all that we are told of. 19. Mrs. Brown, probably the wife of an officer stationed at Gibraltar. 20. The white dress that her uncle bought her for Maria's wedding. 21. Mr. Crawford took Edmund's place in putting her shawl round her shoulders. 22. Rebecca and Sally. 23. Brighton. 24. 700 pounds a year. 25. Her affection had been engaged elsewhere (she already was in love with Edmund). 26. The fraternal tie. 27. Seeing her with her brother William—her heightened emotions. 28. 4,000 per year. 29. A Portsmouth girl of William Price's acquaintance who shuns dancing with him because she is courted by a lieutenant. Lucy Gregory and her sister are friends of the young Prices and William says of them, "grown up amazing fine girls." 30. The scrap of a note he wrote her when he gave her the chain for her cross. 31. A drink served at Fanny's coming out ball made of hot water, wine and lemon juice and then sweetened and spiced. 32. Well principled and religious. 33. She will present Fanny with a puppy from Pug's next litter. 34. Mrs. Grant as a wife and Sir Thomas as a husband. 35. William; Mary; Betsey; Charles and Tom; John, 2nd son, and Richard, 3rd son; Sam; Susan. 36. That Mary became interested in reconciling only after she heard that Tom's life was in very grave danger and was interested in the fact that Edmund could become Sir Thomas' heir. 37. King Henry VIII. 38. Dr. Grant and Mrs. Norris. 39. May, 1814, Thomas Egerton of the Military Library, Whitehall London (he also published Sense and Sensibility and Pride and Prejudice). 40. Laurence Sterne, 1713-68.

"The Match"—e, k, g, p, i, m, l, c, f, n, t, s, h, q, r, j, o, b, a, d.